

Lloyd Saunders

Dr. Saunders is currently Chief, Planning, Environmental and Regulatory Division, Galveston District, US Army Corps of Engineers. He earned his PhD in biology at the University of Waterloo, Ontario, Canada, graduating in 1969. He has held increasingly more responsible positions with the Corps for 32 years. He has extensive experience in water resources planning, policy, project management, research and development, environmental compliance, budget process, and regulatory compliance. He has worked throughout the southern US from Washington, DC to the Rio Grande.