

Patrick McGloin
Executive Director
Coastal Bend Land Trust

With over twenty years of experience as a practicing architect, Patrick brings a unique perspective on land use and habitat conservation to the Coastal Bend Land Trust. His architecture firm's focus on historic preservation has given him experience with many of the same tools and resources used by land trusts for habitat conservation. As an owner and manager of his architectural firm, he has developed skills in business administration, financial planning and management, human resources, marketing, and information systems that he brings to the Coastal Bend Land Trust.

Patrick is interested in historic preservation, livable communities and urban vitality, and the effect of development and land use patterns on environmental and cultural resources. He is an avid surfer, windsurfer, and bicyclist. He is proud of his heritage – he is a sixth-generation South Texan – and proud to be involved with saving the wild places of the Coastal Bend for future generations.
