

Dr. David Sunding
University of California at Berkeley

Dr. Sunding is Director of the Center for Sustainable Resource Development and a member of the Department of Agriculture and Resource Economics at UC Berkeley. His research is in the area of agricultural and natural resource policy, including water resources, pest control, agricultural research and development, and land use. Dr. Sunding has served as a consultant to the U.S. Department of the Interior, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the State of California and numerous public interest groups on matters relating to the development and implementation of agricultural and natural resource policy. He was a Senior Economist at the President's Council of Economic Advisors from 1996 to 1997, and has taught at Berkeley's Boalt hall School of Law and in the Department of Economics and the School of Law at Boston College.